Piano for beginners includes music theory practice to help building a good understanding about music and piano playing in particular, and focuses on developing the ability to play smoothly with both hands using proper hand positioning.

The Sight reading camp is for Piano players only. It helps them achieve fluency in notes reading and apply rules and theory concepts right away. That gives them the benefit of faster learning and more detailed understanding of the musical pieces they play and perform.

The Music Theory camp provides the support any instrument player needs to achieve a better performance. Music theory grade 5 is required for students who take ABRSM practical or performance exam grades 6-8.
